Curlers End Season With Banquet, Dance

'CURLING BANQUET A BALL'

Would you believe? A bonspiel in the lounge at Bonnie View Inn skipped by the Swinger and Dead Eye Dick, or being entertained by three quarters of a Barber Shop Quartet? There was a state of complete disorganization. The quartet was superb, as only they could be.

A pleasant social hour was followed by a long, long line, which thankfully ended at the buffet table.

The ladies section, as usual awarded many lovely prizes after which the men presented their trophies. A more detailed report will follow next week.

A rousing chinese raffle was conducted by J.O. Jackson with here a bid, there a bid, everywhere a bid, bid. It was a lot of fun, produced a winner and some financial assistance for the Club.

There were no wall flowers at this party and all tripped the light fantastic. Some got prizes for being caught with a lemon, while others found the lucky spot or happened to be dancing with the right man or lady at the right time.

It was a fun night for the Minden Curling Club and to the organizers, a hearty thank you. May you know your efforts were worthwhile and enjoyed by all. Watch for Pictures and Trophy Winners next week in the Progress.

VARIETY CONCERT

A most enjoyable musical concert is being planned for Saturday, May 4th at 7:30 P.M. at the Hyland Crest Senior Citizen's Home in Minden. Under the capable direction of Mrs. Norman Finney, an excellent program is being arranged.

Included in the concert will be a number of choral highlights from the repertoire of "The Madrigal Singers", as well as several requested numbers. Songs by "The Kinsmen Sister" will feature a "Japanese Fantasy", in which these talented young ladies, in beautiful Japanese costumes, will perform selections from "The Mikado". These girls are well-known for their fine singing at St. Peter's Church, Maple Lake, where they are faithful and valuable members of St. Peter's church choir, under Mrs. Finney's direction.

REGIONAL LIBRARY WORKSHOP

HALIBURTON REPRESENTED AT

The Haliburton County Public Library was well represented at a Librarian's Workshop in Belleville on Wednesday, April 10th. The Haliburton contingent included Mr. N. McNeill, Mrs. M. Packard and Miss C. Sisson from the County Library office, Mrs. E. Hewitt a member of both the County and Regional library boards, Mrs. J. Sears, Minden Branch supervisor, and four members of the High School library club.

The day's program contained three lectures and several films designed to aid the librarians in their work. There is also the opportunity to observe the layout and operation of a very fine library, since the workshop was held at the Belleville Public Library.

Following registration and coffee the group divided to view films and to attend lectures. Those in the lecture room listened as the three Resource librarians from Peterborough, Belleville and Kingston explained the use of the Inter-Library loan system and also dealt with some of the problems they face. A time was provided in each case for questions and comments from the floor. Then the Regional Director from the Lake

Erle Regional Library System showed how their system works for the improvement of Inter-library loan through the use of Telex and costly research guides.

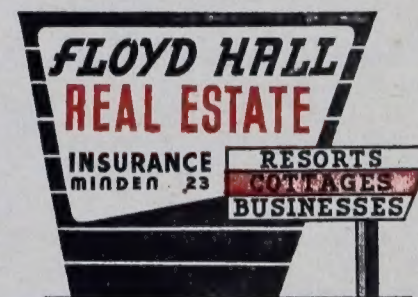

An excellent lunch was served at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church to the 100 participants in the workshop. This was a noteworthy accomplishment since the ladies had only expected 70 people.

The afternoon lectures concerned the means by which the library may better serve the needs of the community. The first speaker, Mr. R. Porter, made several suggestions which he felt would aid the library in becoming a more integral part of the community. Mr. Barrie Robinson, the Lake Ontario Regional Library Director, placed special emphasis is no the services to our Senior Citizens. In line with this emphasis, there was a display of large-print books.

After being fortified with coffee the group departed for the Haliburton Highlands about four o'clock. The Librarian's Workshop was a very enjoyable and profitable experience for the local library staff.

HERE AND THERE

by FENWICK FINCH

During a meeting of the "Carlings Red Cap Forever Association, Minden Branch, Chapter 13" the subject of "southpaws" came up. It got quite heated and interesting, so, I thought I'd let you good people in on the discussion.

In this day and age of minority groups, one that has received little or no attention is the league of left-handers or southpaws. There are approximately 200,000,000 left handers in the world today and according to experts they are on the increase. Thirty five years ago, only two to four percent of school kids wrote with their left mitts. Over fifteen percent are "lefties" and the group is growing. At one time about one-quarter of the population were originally south-paws but teachers and parents no doubt forced them into using their right hands.

For year "lefties" have been considered temperamental, unstable, hard-to-handle, stubborn and scrappy. Runs through my mind that I have known these traits to be shown in right-handed people — and in just about the same ratio.

There are a great many famous people who are left handed — being that way hasn't hurt them in a world of "righties".

Back in history many Pharaohs were left-handed, Roman Caesars, Alexander the Great, King George the VI, and artists da Vinci, Michelangelo and Raphael.

Quite a few left-handers are adept at mirror-writing — ever watch the weather on Channel 9 — Dave Dovel is pretty handy with what appears to be backwards and reads from right to left — it can only be read by holding it up to mirror.

Scientists can't agree on why people are left-handed. Some claim it is inherited the same as hair and eye colouring. Others lean towards imitation of left-handed parents being the answer.

Other theories are covering the brain — it is supposed to control the opposite side of the body — therefore we are left-handed because the right side of our brain is the stronger. For years men have been taught to fight with their right hands leading — this is standard practice, the left hand was used to hold the shield to cover the heart.

From birth, until about their first year, babies use both hands equally as well — we could conceivably grow up to be ambidextrous if our parents and teachers didn't encourage the use of right hands to the exclusion of the left. No interference would see about 37 out of every 100 children would be left-handed and about five percent would be using both hands.

Catering to "lefties" is big business today. Special golf clubs, hockey equipment, bowling balls, fishing rods, etc. etc. Who knows what's in the future?

Well, there's little of the history of "left-handers" so, if any of you "lefties" have been feeling put upon — forget it — you're amongst the "chosen people."

In closing, here's a tip from Mrs. Matalas — "If you like to eat celery in bed, a dimple in your knee is a handy place to keep the salt."

That does it for another week — drive carefully and if you're near Fenelon Falls watch out for "Charlie."

700 ATTEND SCHOOL PRODUCTION OF "MARY POPPINS"

A crowd estimated at close to 700 persons attended two evenings and one matinee performance of the production "Mary Poppins" presented at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School auditorium recently.

Students of the Lakeview school assisted by some younger performers from the Victoria Street School were given a standing ovation at the conclusion of their performances.

Under the direction of Bill Gliddon and Stuart Baker, the cast presented two evening performances to a full house as well as preparing and presenting a slightly shortened version for an afternoon performance.

Glenda Burke, playing the title role of "Mary Poppins", Jerry Donaldson as George W. Banks, Sharon Maughan as Mrs. Banks, George Thayer as Bert and Marilyn Thayer and Stephen Baker as children of Mr. and Mrs. Banks rendered flawless performances in the lead roles and were ably assisted by the supporting cast.

Special recognition also went to the workers back stage, and all who combined forces to make the outstanding success possible. Glenda Burke and Jerry Donaldson made a presentation to the play director William Gliddon on behalf of the cast on closing night.

CHANGES IN POSTAGE STAMP BOOKLETS

The Canada Post Office announced today the introduction of two new stamp booklets to be sold across the counter at $1.00 each.

The booklets will replace the cello-pacs now in use. Available in the four and five cent denominations, the booklets will be more economical to produce and more convenient to carry in pocket or purse. Their introduction will come gradually, as current supplies of cello become exhausted.

At the same time, stamp booklets priced at 25c will lose their present format in favour of an improved moisture resistant one, featuring a vinyl coating on appropriate surfaces. In a few weeks time, the 25c booklets will be available only from vending machines. This measure is expected to reduce pressure on post office wicket clerks during busy periods, and to increase sales of the one dollar booklets.

LET'S HOLD OUR GROUND

Recently a committee in Victoria County came up with a plan to divide the county into six Municipalities as an alternative to the large region as outlined in the report of the Ontario Committee on taxation (or Smith Report.)

This report among other things recommended that a that the Province be divided into twenty-two regions.

The publicity from Victoria County has raised the regional form of government be adopted in Ontario and question as to what the Smith report recommends for Haliburton County.

The report states that Haliburton County should become what the Committee calls a contracting Municipality rather than a region.

The Committee would like to include this Municipality under regional government but admits that, "there comes a point at which distance, low population density, lack of direct communication routes, and other environmental liabilities become inseparable barriers of the frequency of contact that regional government requires."

However, the Committee still wants such Municipalities to enjoy the services of regional government. It proposes that the Province enter into contracts with the abutting regions (in the case of Haliburton County — the Kawartha Region, to the south) whereby these regions would extend their services to the "contract municipalities". The Province should absorb all the extra ordinary costs involved in providing regional services to the contracting Municipalities.

The Committee believes that "contract municipalities" should be guarded as temporary in looks to their eventual incorporation into the regions.

The report recommends that Haliburton County receive all regional services like some as recognized regions. Service would be exclusively regional, shared between regions and the province, shared between regions and lower tier governments and exclusively local.

EXCLUSIVELY REGIONAL

Assessment, Tax Collection, Levying and Collecting Non Property Taxes, Capital Borrowing, Arterial Roads, Public Health and Welfare, Secondary Schooling, Regional Parks and Recreation, Conservation, and E. M. O.

SHARED BETWEEN REGIONS AND PROVINCIAL

Hospital Facilities, Planning, Regional Planning.

SHARED BETWEEN REGIONS AND LOWER — TIER GOVERNMENTS

Levying Property Taxes, Library Services, Water Supply and Distribution, Sewage Disposal, Garbage Disposal.

EXCLUSIVELY LOCAL

Local Planning, Zoning and Building By-Laws, Licences and Permits, Police, Fire, Parking, Weed and Pest Control, Street Lighting, Traffic Control, Local Roads and Streets, Sidewalks, Storm Drainage, Garbage Collection, Elementary Schooling, Local Parks and Recreation, Community Centres and Arenas, Markets and Weigh Scales, Cemeteries, Electricity, Transit, Other Utilities.

As yet the Provincial Government has given no indication whether or not it intends to set up regions as outlined in the Smith Report.

TIPS ON SMOKING

The only safe cigarette is the one you don't light — but if you have difficulty stopping, you can reduce the amount of smoke you take into your lungs. Here are four tips from the Department of National Health and Welfare:

1. Cut down your cigarette consumption drastically. Postpone the next one as long as you possibly can.

2. Take fewer puffs on each cigarette. The longer the interval between puffs the better. Leave the cigarette in an ash-tray or hold it in your hands, never in your lips, between puffs. Otherwise, you are liable to inhale smoke when you breathe.

3. Throw away a very long butt. The last half of the cigarette contains a greater concentration of harmful tar and nicotine. Throw away an extra long butt if you smoke a long cigarette.

4. Don't inhale the smoke. Remember, when you inhale, you are taking damaging tar and gases into your bronchial tubes and lungs. Blow a mouthful of smoke through a clean white handkerchief to see what the tar is like. Compare the stains before and after inhalation.

These tips will help you to unlearn your smoking habit. After you have tried them for a few days, you might find it easier to stop smoking altogether.

"RECREATIONAL TIPS"

There are three main boating hazards for spring fishermen; small boats, cold water and spring storms. This statement is not off the top of a hat or made loosely for something to say; it is a fact backed up by many incidents of spring boating fatalities by the Ontario Safety League.

Small boats are the greatest hazard because they immediately start to shift under the weight of a man when he stands up to cast, land a fish or even stretch. Over two dozen fishermen lost their lives last spring in Ontario because they fell out of small boats. To our knowledge, not one of these victims was intoxicated; they simply lost their balance. A few fishermen who lost their balance and fell out of boats were wearing approved lifejackets, and they survived. But over two dozen non-jacketed, standup fishermen are not fishing this spring.

There were quite a few fishermen in Ontario who fell overboard during the warm-water summer months and emerged from their ducking without ill effects. The great majority of fishing fatalities happened in the cold water months of spring and fall. When a man falls into 40 degree water without the protection of a survival suit, he becomes helpless and immobilized in a few minutes, and tragedy is almost inevitable unless help is immediately at hand.

Spring storms come up suddenly and can be vicious. A spring fisherman caught on an open lake by such a storm is at the mercy of heavy waves and cold water. Under these conditions, an approved lifejacket is of some value, but a man could easily perish before reaching shore and the needed warm and shelter. The Ontario Safety League is issuing these warnings in an effort to reduce the needless tragedies which occurred in Ontario last year during the spring months.

Only one hockey death in fifty years of competition has marred the National Hockey League however in the Maritimes two deaths were recorded this year.

Bill Masterson of the Minnesota North Stars was killed earlier in the season and since that time many National Hockey League players have started using helmets to protect their heads.

Both players in the Maritimes wore helmets when they suffered their injuries but still the injuries were fatal.

The death of Eric Graves, 16 of Dartmouth Nova Scotia is being investigated by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police after he was injured in a game this week between Shearwater Nova Scotia and Newcastle New Brunswick.

A Newcastle player was given a five minute major penalty for slashing after the referee said he turned and saw Graves falling, holding his hand to his head. Officials of the tournament would not release the penalized player's name.

According to Coroner Dr. Norman Learson an autopsy showed death was caused by a fractured skull and brain hemorrhaging.

The season's other victim was also just sixteen years of age.

There isn't any doubt that helmets have saved many players from serious head injuries but evidently even this isn't enough.

Dirty play must be curtailed by the coaches and managers and referees must keep strict contact of the game and give penalties to every infraction of the rules.

I'm certainly not against rough play but I do believe that dirty hockey must be eliminated.

Dirty play is even evident in some minor hockey games and one local illustration in a pee-wee game between Minden and Fenelon Falls. Although I don't remember the score in the game Minden defeated the visitors in an aggressive game. Nearing the end of the game it could easily be noticed that some Fenelon players appeared to be unnecessarily rough even though it was quite evident that Minden would win the game.

At the end of the game with Minden the victors the two teams lined up to offer congratulations and condolences.

Instead of shaking hands one Fenelon player punched a Minden player in the stomach and the Minden player went to his knees.

Although the Fenelon management didnt see the foul play the guilty player was reprimanded immediately on discovery.

Players must learn that they will be reprimanded on similar issues and executives should act and discourage unsportsmanlike conduct by the players.

production of "Mary Poppins" — Miss Glenda Burke, will also be heard at this concert. This young lady is rapidly becoming well-known in music in this area due to her magnificent contribution to the work of her church choir (St. George's Haliburton) and the musical plays of Lakeview School, which Mr. Bill Gliddon has directed during the past few years.

Miss Cathy MacBrien will sing and play some folk-song selections, including a song which she composed herself.

The three talented gentlemen who will be the Guest Artists for the concert are Mr. Carl Rohaufsky, flautist; — Mr. Rex Metcalfe, who will assist Mrs. Finney in conducting some numbers on the program; and the well-known Mr. Bill Metcalfe, who needs no introduction to residents of this area. Pianists for the evening will be Miss Kathleen Owens, regular accompanist for the "Madrigal Singers", and Mr. Bill Gliddon, who will accompany Mr. Rohaufsky in a flute-piano duet.

This excellent Variety Concert is open to the public at no admission cost.

It provides an opportunity to see and hear the fine musical talent of our great artists, and also of our own local musicians. So plan to be present, and bring your friends to enjoy this musical evening.

ROTARY CORNER

COLORFUL CALADIUMS LIVEN SHADY NOOKS

Caladiums will add a bright colorful accent to any shady spot in the yard. In fact, horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food state that they need shade to grow.

This bulb should be started indoors during April for planting out around June 1. When preparing to start them indoors, place about an inch of peat moss or vermiculite in the bottom of a shallow, well-drained container. Set the tuberous roots on top, with the bumpy side up. Space them about an inch apart, cover and water well. Caladiums require a high temperature of about 75 degrees F to get them off to a good start.

When the sprouts appear, the plant should be moved to a sunny window and when the first leaves unfold, each should be transplanted into well drained five-inch pots. Use a soil mixture containing one-half peat moss and one-half top soil for the transplants.

When transplanting them outside, remove the plants from the pots and space them about 12 inches apart. They should be planted so that the tuberous roots are about three inches below soil level. Be sure that the area has good drainage and shade throughout most of the day. Prolonged exposure of the caladium leaves to direct sunlight will result in brown spots appearing on the leaves. The plant can be expected to grow to about 18 inches by the end of the season.

Throughout the summer, the soil around the plants should always be kept moist but not saturated. Fertilizer should be given in a liquid form about once every two weeks during the active growing season.

DOLLARS AND GOOD SENSE

by William J. Martin

(Note: Because so many of the questions we receive reveal an unawareness of practical buying and selling practices, the column will be devoted to some practical "do's and don'ts of planning, buying and selling, as recommended by a national consumers' association. Questions and answers will be resumed in the next issue.)

Follow these few do's and don'ts and see if they don't help solve some of your financial difficulties.

Do —

1. Keep track of your income, expenses, and savings for at least one month so you know, for sure, where your money is going.
2. Find out how much you have left after all your necessary expenses are taken out.
3. Plan a regular savings program to cover things you plan to do in the future — a vacation trip, car repairs, insurance, a baby, etc., so you will have enough cash to pay for them.
4. Plan your spending by pay periods so you don't go broke in between paydays.

Don't —

1. Don't be a soft touch for a smooth salesman who uses an emotional approach. Example: "You owe it to your kiddies to buy this set of encyclopedia (only $400). By the time your kiddies are old enough to use them, the books will be outdated and worthless — and you will probably be in a much better position to afford the set they need then rather than now."
2. Don't let a slick salesman stampede you into signing immediately to take advantage of a "hot deal." If the deal will spoil by morning, there's something rotten somewhere and he's trying to get you hooked before you find out what it is.

3. Don't fall for that old sales gag about the "other buyer who is going to snap this bargain up" if you don't get on the dotted line at once. If Salesman Sam really had a customer that eager he wouldn't be trying so hard to sell you.

4. Don't spend more than a week's pay in cash or sign up for any major credit purchase without thinking the deal over for 24 hours. You'd be surprised how much less attractive the deal looks to you the next morning. The man with the baby furniture will still sell it to you tomorrow if the deal is sound.

5. Don't buy anything you don't really need — no matter how cheap it is.

6. Don't buy anything just because you can get it on credit — or because no down payment is required or because payments are small. Remember, you will have to pay the full price in the end — plus the cost of credit which is higher if no down payment is made or if payments are stretched over a longer period of time to keep them low. Be sure you can keep up the payments before you sign up for credit.

WOODS, WATERS AND WILDLIFE

By James Woodford

Conservationists are often taken to task for not being practical. They are told that conservation is fine, but why not preserve something else and let us realistically get on with our growth?

The Federation of Ontario Naturalists answers with this philosophy — "We are not blindly opposed to progress; but opposed to blind progress."

On April 27th over 500 naturalists and conservationists will gather in Peterborough to debate and discuss the state of conservation in Ontario.

A highlight will be the premiere of a movie last summer and entitled "Search for the Giant White Pine." Dr. Duncan MacLulich of Waterloo Lutheran University spent six weeks searching Algonquin Provincial Park for remnants of the great pine forests that once virtually covered the region. Conservationists hope that some of these 'giants' will be set aside as a living-museum by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

Ontario's 'arctic' region will be featured by one of our top nature photographers, Dr. Donald Gunn, who will present "The Flora and Fauna of James Bay."

The special guest speaker at the annual dinner will be the Hon. Rene Brunelle, Minister of Lands and Forests. Mr. Brunelle will deliver the fourth J. R. Dymond and Memorial Address to the 500 delegates.

On Sunday, April 28th the Peterborough Nature Club have arranged a series of field trips to points of outstanding natural beauty and scientific interest around Peterborough. Trips are scheduled to the Buckhorn Wilderness Area, Warsaw Caves, Ganaraska Forest, Indian Paintings and the Ganaraska Trail.

The annual meeting of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists is open to the public. For a program write to: Federation of Ontario Naturalists, 1262 Don Mills Road, Don Mills.

This is the season of the blue jays' clockwork courtship.

When the fever of spring descends upon blue jays, the young or unmated males band together in a courtship flock. Any number from two to a dozen gentlemen in their bright new blue suits see to it that there are no wallflowers among blue jay debutantes. Their antics become as formal and ritualistic as the high society ball was back in the days of "The 400" society.

The blue jay counting clock reminds one of a huge, animated Black Forest clock, one of those mechanical marvels which on the stroke of the hour sets a myriad of little figures into jerky action. But, instead of hanging on a wall, the blue jay courtship flock distributes its members among the uppermost branches of a leafless tree. And, instead of the stroke of the hour, the blue jay flock is set in motion by a clear, melodious call that sounds like "KLEE-koe."

An average flock will be composed of seven or eight blue jays, according to the Federation of Ontario Naturalists. Each male will have grasped his branch in an unusual way, a stance that blue jays seldom or never use except during courtship. After seizing the branch, he will lean forward as though off balance. He will remain motionless as though in a trance. The trance is broken, however, when one bird in the group utters the clear, loud "Klee-koe." The others then bob in unison and issue a throaty call that sounds like a bugle note. Usually, the members of the flock bob three times and give the bugle call with each bob. There is a momentary pause and then another "KLEE-koe" sets the clockwork in motion again. The "KLEE-koe" calls are spaced about three seconds apart.

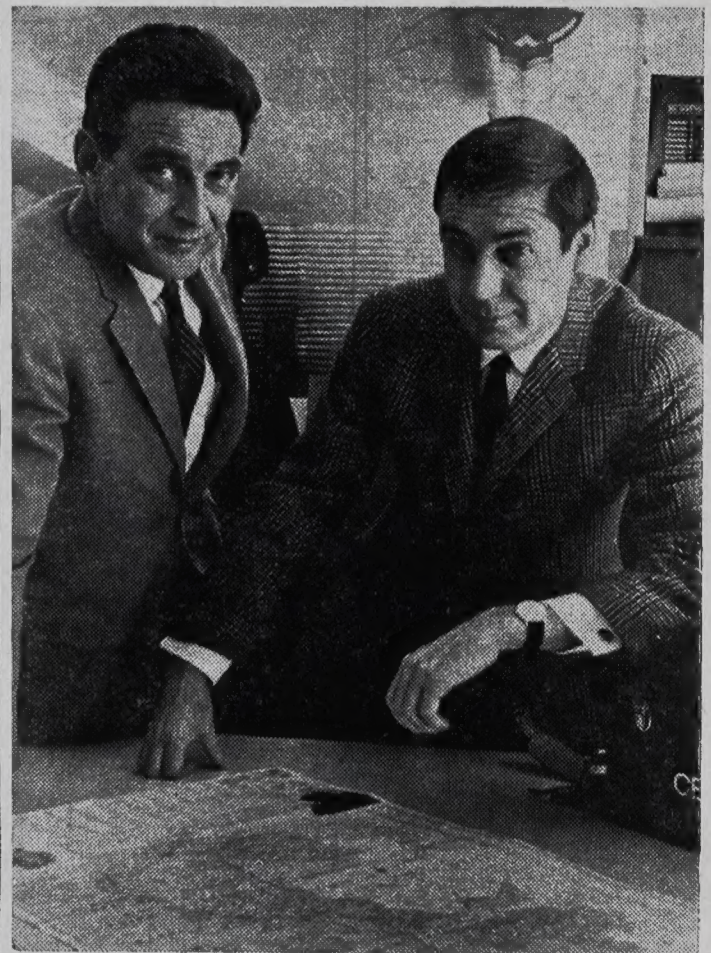

After about three or four minutes, the debutante blue jay who is being serenaded flies to another tree and the whole troupe flies off after her. In moving from tree to tree, the gentlemen often scuffle a bit, either in the air or on landing in the next tree.

As the days go by, the courtship flocks in each neighbourhood begin to dwindle in size. The debutante accepts an escort and the other boys go rush some other eligible gal. The process continues until most of the birds have paired.

The whole noisy undertaking may result in a loosely woven nest in a cedar beside your house. If all goes well and blue jays will emerge from that nest sometime in May or June.
